Industry Veteran William Haddad Joins Component Solutions Sales Team

Bristol, Rhode Island, January 2, 2010 – Component Solutions, Inc., a leading supplier of custom industrial components, announced today that William Haddad has joined the organization’s sales team. In his new role, Haddad will be responsible for business development, sales, and customer retention among new and existing clients.

Haddad has over 25 years of experience in industrial sales. Prior to joining Component Solutions, he served as a sales engineer with Hollingsworth, where he specialized in solderless terminals and fasteners for the industrial, aerospace, computer, boat manufacturing, electrical and telecommunication industries throughout New England. Previously, he was a sales engineer at Electronic Fasteners in Waltham, Massachusetts, and at All-Tech Specialties in South Windsor, Connecticut.

“We’re thrilled to have a seasoned sales and product professional like Bill join our growing team,” said David Reardon, President of Component Solutions. “His industry knowledge, hands-on service, and attention to detail will be an asset to our organization and, most importantly, our customers.”

Haddad graduated with a B.S. in business and marketing from Johnson & Wales. He resides in North Providence.
